Cressida Technology and Capitalware Extend Partnership To The United States and Canada

London, UK & Markham, CANADA - December 1, 2004 - Cressida Technology, a developer and distributor of WebSphere MQ and Security solutions, and Capitalware Inc., a developer of software solutions for message handling, announced an agreement that will broaden the spectrum of enterprise level tools available to their respective customers.

Cressida Technology will now offer Capitalware's MQ Visual Edit, MQ Visual Browse and MQ Batch Toolkit products to its customers in the United States, Canada, Europe, the Middle East, and Africa. The combination of Cressida Technology's ReQuest™ for WebSphere MQ and Capitalware's MQ products offers customers a complete WebSphere MQ (WMQ) message management solution.

"This partnership demonstrates the shared commitment by both organizations to help customers gain real business benefit from their WebSphere MQ messaging systems," said Roger Lacroix, President for Capitalware Inc. "Clients will greatly benefit from the array of messaging products that will now be available."

"We were looking to strengthen our MQ Message Assurance offerings and actively looked for the right partner with whom we could work closely. Capitalware enjoys a good name and product reputation in the WebSphere MQ community and came highly recommended" said Mehrdad Kanafchian, Managing Director of Cressida Technology. "With our Cressida ReQuest™ for WebSphere MQ solutions, we can directly - without any application instrumentation or overhead - read and process Recovery Log data on multiple platforms to provide a "learn from the Past to make sure of the Future" solution for reporting, recovering, auditing, tracking, and replaying our clients' messages. The addition of Visual Edit allows us to offer complementary 'Present' time processing of messages that our clients can use to access, edit and manipulate their business-critical WMQ messages."

About Cressida Technology

Cressida is an IBM development partner, providing a series of WebSphere MQ and Messaging Assurance products, services, training and solutions. With its head office located in the United Kingdom and several offices and staff in key European and United States locations, Cressida provides local sales and technical resources to service and support its clients. www.cressida.info

About Capitalware Inc.

Capitalware Inc. is an Information Solution provider in the areas of Application Development, Data Warehousing and Middleware Development. Capitalware, Inc. is an IBM business partner and provides products, services, and training for WebSphere MQ to companies across North America. www.capitalware.biz

For additional information about this announcement please contact:

M. Kanafchian	R. Lacroix
Cressida Technology Ltd.	Capitalware Inc.
44 1483 23 93 00	1-416-566-7307
mkanafchian@cressida.info	sales@capitalware.biz

* All product names referenced are trademarks, and/or registered trademarks of their respective organizations, companies, and corporations.